'Now ... we're dreaming'

Tabaj family returns to Canada after deportation overturned Ordered to leave country two years ago

They were just three years old when their family was deported from Canada, but the Tabaj twins, Kristian and Vincenco, now five-years-old, never forgot Canada — the place their parents and sister adopted after fleeing Albania, fearing for their lives.

"Now we're back, and we're dreaming," said their mother, Anilda Tabaj as the twins clutched miniature Canadian flags and their older sister, Maria, grinned and said she couldn't wait to see her friends. Their father, 41-year-old Arjan Tabaj, knelt down and kissed the ground.

"For me, for my family, this means future, hope, freedom," he said, holding back tears.

The Tabaj family returned to the country Thursday after two years away.

Last month, a judge overturned a June 2009 deportation order that sent them back to Albania.

The Tabajs took refuge in Canada after an alleged assassination attempt on Arjan Tabaj's life in April 2000. According to the family, he was in a vehicle with colleagues from the pro-democracy newspaper where he worked when they were ambushed by machine-gun fire. Two of the occupants in the car were killed, and Tabaj was left partially paralyzed and lost his left foot.

In January 2001, the couple and their daughter entered Canada using fake passports. They remained for several years, settling in Etobicoke.

But they had problems getting refugee status, due to an abandoned claim made during a brief stay in Canada in the late 1990s. Despite pleas from friends, family and then-MP for the Tabajs' Etobicoke Centre riding, Borys Wrzesnewskyj, the family was deported in 2009.

They spent the last two years in hiding in Albania, moving from place to place, and not allowing their children to leave, even to go to school. Still, the family says they received death threats and claim they were the victims of another assassination attempt.

"For me, for my family, this means future, hope, freedom.... We want to forget. We want to focus on the future now."
ARJAN TABAJ

Arjan Tabaj refused to give details about the assassination attempt or the past two years in hiding.

"We want to forget. We want to focus on the future now," he said. The family was also secretive about their plans, refusing to disclose where they will stay.

Brampton candidate's husband charged

The husband of a Brampton Conservative party candidate has been charged with sexual assault.

A pretrial hearing in Ontario Superior Court will be held in Brampton Sept. 29 in the case against Gurmeet "Bill" Bhangal, husband of Pam Hundal. The alleged incident is said to have taken place April 15.

Bhangal could not be reached for comment and no one answered the door at the family residence in Brampton.

Peel police would not confirm the charge, but a court official said someone with the same name and birthdate was charged and had a first appearance in court May 30, before the upcoming pretrial hearing.

Approached at her campaign office, Hundal, who is running in the provincial riding of Brampton-Springdale, said only, "I have no comment."

Bhangal, 45, worked in the auto industry before becoming owner of a number of Jiffy Lube franchises in Ontario. He has helped organize events for Tim Hudak in Brampton.

Here's a cookie, now save child care

Doug Ford refuses to 'pinky swear' at family protest in city hall that he won't cut subsidized child care spaces

"Red rover, red rover, we call Doug Ford over," a group of snack-brandishing kids and parents chanted to the grinning councillor during a protest against city hall budget cuts.

Ford got a big cheer by finally being coaxed over from his council chamber chair Thursday morning, but he refused juice and a cracker, or to "pinky swear" that he won't cut subsidized child-care spaces.

"Can you folks go to the province and talk to the premier" to pressure him to fund 2,000 child-care spaces the city can't afford, Ford asked — before returning to his seat to a chorus of boos.

More than 100 parents and babies, toddlers and bigger kids crowded the public gallery. They soon had left-leaning councillors, including Pam McConnell and Joe Mihevc, eating out of their snack trays.

"I just want everyone to take their cookies and I want everybody to support my child care."
AMINA VANCE, 10, ABOUT WHY SHE ATTENDED THE CHILD CARE PROTEST

Allies of Mayor Rob Ford, including Doug Ford, Paul Ainslie and deputy mayor Doug Holyday, watched from their seats, smiling, as parents yelled: "What about the rest of you? Come join us! Don't you support child care?"

Earlier, during a closed council session, a vote to open it up so the protest could take place passed 16-14. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Two men jailed in stomping death

Victim's liver, spleen were lacerated Upper lip was separated from the jaw and his tongue was almost severed

The last time Ayan Dahir saw her 16-year-old son, she thought he was going to the movies.

Little did she know that Mahamed Abdi Warsame, her first-born, was heading to a highrise apartment building near Eglinton Avenue East and Markham Road where he would be so viciously kicked and stomped as to render his face unrecognizable.

"I never knew he had friends there. I gave him $20 from off the fridge. I told him to take that $20 for the movies. That's the last time I see him," said Dahir, in tears.

Dahir said she is happy the two men have been sent to the penitentiary but would like to see the others pay for what they did.

Put Eglinton LRT back on track, David Miller says

Mayor Rob Ford is wasting money through his insistence on burying large parts of the new Eglinton light rail transit line, says former mayor David Miller.

Miller criticized Ford, the Liberal provincial government for going along, and Liberals on city council for supporting the new mayor.

Ford's decision — with the province's blessing — to kill the Finch and Sheppard LRT lines was "extremely unwise," he said in an appearance on Newstalk 1010 Wednesday morning.

Miller said the "genius" of his Transit City plan is that it's much cheaper and can be built much faster than subways, which Ford supports as a way to separate transit from cars.

The entire Transit City network could have been delivered by 2020 with the first line ready by 2015, Miller said.

"The plan is there, the environmental assessments are done. You could turn it on like a switch. If you wanted to, you could start construction on Finch in about two months and Sheppard probably next week."

Subways don't work in many neighbourhoods because there aren't enough riders, he said.

"We'd love to have a subway in every neighbourhood but, (a) you can't afford it, and (b) very few neighbourhoods in this city have the (population) density that justifies it."

Youth should leave inspired: Furtado

B.C. songstress hopes young people leave We Day 'energized and brave'

B.C.-born songstress Nelly Furtado has come a long way since her first hit, I'm Like a Bird, soared up the charts around the world back in 2000.

Despite the fame and fortune that quickly followed, the Grammy and Juno award winner still finds time in her hectic schedule for charitable endeavours.

Furtado will perform on Sept. 27 during the We Day event at the Air Canada Centre, hosted by Nina Dobrev, star of the hit series The Vampire Diaries, and musician Joe Jonas.

"We Day is a fantastic, fresh, modern event with a focus on the future, positivity and youth engagement," Furtado told Metro. "It's a meeting ground for thousands of youth that want to change the world."

Furtado says that being a mom also influenced her to be more involved in events like We Day.

"The moment I became a mother, I felt like I was part of the global tribe of mothers, and I believe mothers have so much power as role models for their children and also as healers of the planet."

Young people attending We Day should come away inspired, adds Furtado.

"I would like the youth at We Day to go home feeling energized and brave. It takes bravery to be a true individual, and it's a life long quest — but the younger we start the better!" METRO

HEATHER BUCHAN

With Free the Children ramping up for its annual charitable extravaganza We Day in Toronto next week, co-founder Marc Kielburger sat down to talk about what keeps him going.

"One is to see the actual impact of We Day itself," he said. "Last year, we were able to engage kids and they were able to fundraise $5-million for local and international causes of their choice."

Kielburger also points to the actual experience of being at We Day.

"It is so incredible," he says of the daylong event, which will draw 18,000 student leaders from across North America to the Air Canada Centre. "We also have a few surprises happening throughout the day that are really going to wow people and make a difference in the world," he adds.

Every year, We Day draws an impressive roster of speakers and performers. This year's event will see popular Canadian singers and the likes of actor and political activist Danny Glover and Mary Robinson, Ireland's first female president and former United Nations High Commissioner.

How does Kielburger attract high profile names year-after-year?

"A lot of individuals who come to the event are very active with social change," he explains. "Nelly Furtado, for example, is not only involved in We Day, but she spent a number of weeks with us in Kenya where we were able to film a documentary with CTV.

"It's very cool to see individuals who not only come to the big splashy event, but who come and understand the work we're doing, getting on the ground, getting their hands dirty."

"It's much more than just a day event. It's become this year-long educational initiative."

We Day spurs on Man in Motion

CONTRIBUTED

▶ Rick Hansen

For a man who has inspired so many, it's funny to hear Rick Hansen talk about what inspires him. Yet that's the word that comes up when he talks about his past experiences speaking at We Day.

"Being in the room with such a tremendous force of amazing people inspires me to keep going, to set the bar even higher," he says.

It's been 25 years since the Paralympian made his historic Man in Motion tour in the hopes of making the world a healthier and more inclusive place. He's been spreading that message ever since and is interrupting a cross-Canada anniversary relay to speak at next week's Toronto We Day.

He first heard about the annual Free the Children event from his three daughters, who have all attended.

"They'd come back so excited," he says. "It's an incredible opportunity for like-minded kids to connect with each other and with their role models."

Hansen says it amazes him to see so many young people "not just thinking and dreaming of what they might do, but actually doing great things."

His key message for today's youth?

"Express gratitude to those that have made a difference in your life. By doing so, you can move from a place of frustration and despair to optimism and hope; from a sense of isolation to connectedness. It's a powerful force: It makes you feel like you're not alone." LIA GRAINGER

'Time to make a change'

Musician Shawn Desman seeking to empower local youth at We Day

PHOEBE HO
TORONTO@METRONEWS.CA

DARREN CALABRESE/THE CANADIAN PRESS FILE

▶ Shawn Desman will be at the Me to We Store, 223 Carlton St., this Saturday for the Free the Children We Day sneak-peek experience.

Shawn Desman is telling youth to take action, now.

"No matter how privileged you are, always know that there are people that need your help. You can always say to yourself, 'I'll do it at some point, I'll do it next week,'" he says. "Do it right now, right now is the time to make a change."

The Juno Award-winning Canadian pop star is using his influence to spread We Day's message and empower young people to create global change. He will share the stage at the Air Canada Centre with renowned artists like Nelly Furtado, Classified and Kardinal Offishall, as well as a lineup of Nobel Peace Prize laureates and social activists at Free the Children's We Day event on Tuesday.

But Desman says performing is only a small part of it all for him. From choreographing and creating an instructional video for the new We Day dance, to visiting schools and speaking with students, Desman is involved in all aspects of We Day.

"I go around from school to school and talk about what Free the Children is all about and how they can get involved, the adopt-a-village program, and all the stuff that they do," he says. "I think it adds a lot of value when you have somebody that's in the public eye and is a role model in some sense trying to do positive things."

More than 18,000 people will be attending Toronto's We Day event, with admission free of charge to students and educators. In return, each student must commit to take action on one local and one global issue.

Sharing our pride. Shaping our future.

We're nearly there!

After sitting on the sidelines for so long, the ODAA (Ontario Dental Assistants Association) will finally have our turn in the spotlight! The Ontario government has agreed to consider the regulation of Ontario dental assistants, and HPRAC (Health Professionals Regulatory Advisory Council) will begin our review in November.

If regulation is passed, then all dental assistants must be formally educated to work in a dental office – rather than being trained on the job.

Regulation will mean that you can be completely confident everyone at your dentist's office is properly educated to protect your health and safety.

Did you know that dental assistants in eight provinces have been regulated since the '70s? You can help make the regulation of Ontario dental assistants a reality by talking to your MPP or visiting http://www.hprac.org/en/projects/Dental_Assistants.asp to share your thoughts.

Together we can ensure that Ontario families continue to receive the highest level of safe dental care.

Liberals under fire over cash from utility

McGuinty says donation rules are being followed

DECISION ONTARIO

The Liberal Party of Ontario should not be accepting donations from publicly owned or funded agencies including hydro utilities, the opposition parties said Thursday.

Elections Ontario documents show Thunder Bay Hydro donated the maximum amount allowed — $1,244.32 — to the local Liberal riding association last year, at a time when electricity rates are soaring.

"We don't take those donations, and I think Dalton McGuinty should do the same thing," Progressive Conservative Leader Tim Hudak said. NDP Leader Andrea Horwath said she was "shocked and surprised" the Liberals are taking donations from public utilities after vowing to stop the practice.

McGuinty said they didn't break any rules. "There are stringent rules in place, and I would fully expect that those rules would be observed."

Leaders fired up over BBQ poll

- Horwath tops online survey for BBQ guest of choice
- Hudak issues challenge for high noon cook-off

DECISION ONTARIO

Ontario's election campaign was looking more like a Wild West showdown on Thursday, as the leaders got into a dust-up over who serves the best barbecue.

It all started with a survey by Ipsos Reid that suggested voters would most like to invite NDP Leader Andrea Horwath to a backyard barbecue.

Them's fightin' words, at least to Tim Hudak, who said he has mad skills on the grill and he's not afraid to take on any pretenders.

"I am laying down the gauntlet, I am throwing down the gloves, I'm saying I'm going to challenge Andrea Horwath and (Premier) Dalton McGuinty to a barbecue contest," the Tory leader said during an interview on TSN Radio.

"Once they taste my ribs, once they taste my pulled pork, I think I can turn them around."

McGuinty responded by inviting the other leaders to his house.

"I love burgers," he said. "Everybody's welcome to my place for burgers and beer."

Horwath said she was thrilled to hear she was top choice in the survey, "as long as they're not barbecuing me!"

The online poll surveyed more than 8,000 Ontario residents between Sept. 16 and 20, and found 37 per cent of respondents picked Horwath, 32 per cent chose Hudak and 31 per cent preferred McGuinty.

Iranian leader trash talks, Americans walk

Fiercely anti-U.S. speech by Ahmadinejad at UN headquarters leads to walkout by dozens of nations

American diplomats led a walkout at the UN General Assembly Thursday as Iran's President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad issued a sweeping attack on the United States and major West European nations, calling them "arrogant powers" ruled by greed and eager for military adventurism.

The two U.S. diplomats, who specialize in the Middle East, were followed out of the chamber by diplomats from more than 30 countries. They included the 27 European Union members, Australia, New Zealand, Somalia, Liechtenstein, Monaco, San Marino and Macedonia, a UN diplomat said.

Ahmadinejad's speech contrasted what he called the poverty and unhappiness in most countries against the riches and power of the U.S. and unnamed European nations that he accused of perpetuating wars, causing the current global economic crisis and infringing on "the rights and sovereignty of nations."

He attacked the United States and European colonial powers for abducting tens of millions of Africans and making them slaves, for their readiness "to drop thousands of bombs on other countries," and for dominating the UN Security Council. He singled out the U.S. for using a nuclear bomb against Japan in the Second World War and imposing and supporting military dictatorships and totalitarian regimes in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

"It is as lucid as daylight that the same slave masters and colonial powers that once instigated the two world wars have caused widespread misery and disorder with far-reaching effects across the globe since then," Ahmadinejad said. "Do these arrogant powers really have the competence and ability to run or govern the world?"

Little to cobble together as Palestinians, Israelis hold their ground

Israelis and Palestinians showed no sign Thursday that they were willing to narrow the gaps that have stalled negotiations for years, an ominous sign for the U.S.-led effort to curb a Palestinian statehood bid at the United Nations.

An Israeli official, speaking on condition of anonymity to discuss diplomacy, said there was no talk about a freeze of construction of Jewish settlements. And a top Palestinian official said they would not drop their twin conditions for negotiating: That Israel stop building on lands the Palestinians want for a future state and agree to base talks on borders as they existed before the 1967 war.

Position hardens

- Nabeel Shaath, negotiator and senior adviser to Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas, said the leadership was not prepared to give ground. "We made lots of concessions over the years. It's time the Israelis make the concessions."
- Shaath, pictured, ruled out a New York meeting between Abbas and Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, who had proposed the two sit down together on the sidelines of the UN General Assembly session this week.

FRANCK PREVEL/GETTY IMAGES

▶ Kenza Drider, with posters reading "Freedom for all women," announces her candidacy for France's 2012 presidential election Thursday.

Longshot takes veil off French presidency bid

- Muslim candidate fighting ban on face coverings
- Most support policy designed to protect equality

Kenza Drider's posters for the French presidential race are ready to go, months before the official campaign begins. There she is, the "freedom candidate," pictured standing in front of a line of police — a forbidden veil hiding her face.

Drider declared her candidacy Thursday, the same day a French court fined two women who refuse to remove their veils. All three are among a group of women mounting an attack on the law that has banned the garments from the streets of France since April, and prompted similar moves in other European countries.

"When a woman wants to maintain her freedom, she must be bold," Drider told The Associated Press in an interview.

President Nicolas Sarkozy strongly disagrees, and says the veil imprisons women.

With Islam the second religion in France and numbers of faithful growing, there are worries that veiled Muslim women could compromise the nation's secular foundations and undermine gender equality and women's dignity. There are also concerns wearing full veils could open the door to a radical form of Islam.

Shelling shatters truce hopes

Violence raises concern Yemen fighting widening, endangering civilians

Renewed violence in the Yemeni capital killed at least 15 people on Thursday as forces loyal to the regime and its opponents shelled each other's positions from hills surrounding the city, medical and security official said.

The latest deaths took to about 100 the number of people killed in Yemen since Sunday, in the worst bout of bloodshed in months. The deaths also shattered hope that a cease-fire negotiated on Tuesday could be restored and significantly diminished the chances for a proposal by Yemen's Gulf Arab neighbours to end the crisis.

The shelling has terrified residents and emptied out city streets. Oil spots covered streets after electricity transformers took a hit. The shelling also ruptured many water tanks stored on rooftops of Yemeni homes, inundating the streets below. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pope takes a stab at halting exodus

Pope Benedict XVI addressed Germany's parliament in the historic Reichstag building Thursday, warning that politicians must not sacrifice ethics for power and evoking the Nazi excesses of his homeland as a lesson in history.

Amid scattered protests outside and a boycott by some lawmakers, Benedict began his first state visit to Germany in a bid to stem the tide of Catholics leaving the church while acknowledging the damage caused by the clerical sex-abuse scandal.

German President Christian Wulff, himself Catholic, warmly welcomed the Pope. But Wulff also expressed his understanding of why many Germans can no longer relate to the church.

"It is important for the Church to remain close to the people and not to turn inward on itself," Wulff said, noting that as a remarried divorcee, he is not allowed to accept communion. "Many ask themselves how mercifully it treats people who have suffered breakups." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Timeline is Facebook's bid to get users to merge online and offline lives

Facebook is dramatically redesigning its users' profile pages to create what CEO Mark Zuckerberg says is a "new way to express who you are."

Zuckerberg introduced the Facebook "timeline" Thursday in San Francisco at the company's f8 conference for some 2,000 entrepreneurs, developers and journalists.

The timeline is reminiscent of an online scrapbook, with the most important photos and text that users have shared on Facebook over the years. It's Facebook's attempt at growing from an online hangout to a homestead, where people express their real selves and merge their online and offline lives.

The timeline can go back to include years before Facebook even existed, so users can add photos and events from, say, 1995 when they got married or 1970 when they were born.

Zuckerberg took the stage after a humorous skit, in which Saturday Night Live actor Andy Samberg impersonated him.

The real Mark Zuckerberg, looking considerably more playful and at ease than in past events, said Facebook also will now let users connect to things even if they don't want to "like" them.

Netflix tie-up

Canadians are getting first crack at a Netflix feature that ties into Facebook.

- Netflix users will be able to share what they're watching with their Facebook friends, or browse through what others have liked.
- The feature was to go online yesterday in Canada and in Latin America but not in the U.S. where a law may prohibit the sharing of users' viewing habits.
- In August, Netflix said it signed up its one-millionth Canadian customer.

Flaherty foretells coming of 2nd crisis

SEAN KILPATRICK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Jim Flaherty

Finance Minister Jim Flaherty is warning of a second financial meltdown on the scale of 2008 if action is not taken.

If the issue of a Greek default is not dealt with, "I think matters will come to a head, quite frankly," he told reporters in Ottawa before flying to Washington to meet with his G20 colleagues in an 11th-hour effort to avert a crisis.

Flaherty said Greece and other massively indebted nations must be made to follow through with austerity programs to bring down spending, and Europe must put up the tens of billions of dollars that will be needed to ensure banks don't fail.

He said Canada remains relatively well off, but added that it already is feeling the impact of global uncertainty.

THE METRO LIST

PAUL SULLIVAN
METRO

It's that time of the week again, when we bring you the Metro List, the world's most authoritative review of hot topics around the water cooler:

1 REM disbands after 31 years as the rock critics' darlings. What else is there to do after losing your religion? Everybody hurts.

2 Meanwhile Neil Young says he's writing his memoir. Memoir? It was only yesterday that he burst on the scene with Everybody Knows This is Nowhere. Yesterday, as in May 14, 1969, to be precise. OMG, am I ever old.

3 Georgia executes convicted murderer Troy Davis despite intervention from the Pope, Jimmy Carter and P. Diddy. Wonder why they didn't listen?

4 Two and a Half Men starts the fall season with record ratings. Roughly 28.74 million people have nothing better to do with their lives. Nothing is, er, lost as Ashton Kutcher and Charlie Sheen appear to be interchangeable morons.

5 Palestinians go to the United Nations and ask for statehood. Can't hurt to ask.

6 In other asking news, the U.S. military finally abolishes Don't Ask, Don't Tell, and all the gay generals stay in the closet.

7 Chaz Bono dances his way into respect on Dancing with the Stars. Don't mean a thing if you ain't got that swing. Not bad for a kid who started out as Chastity, the daughter of Sonny and Cher. You've come a long way, baby.

8 Loonie goes below par for the first time since January and drowns. Investors everywhere can relate as we all take a bath. Stocks hit a 13-month low bringing the year-to-date loss to 16.3 per cent. Even gold loses four per cent of its glitter. If this keeps up, I'm going to invest "all my money" in dog food stocks, as that's all retiring boomers will be able to afford to eat.

9 BieberWatch: It's a bad week for the future of the human race as Justin announces "I want to be a young dad. By 25 or 26 I want to see myself, like, married or start looking for a family." Maybe he can find one in a village in Africa. You know the same place where Madonna and Angelina get theirs. He also has his own perfume fragrance — eau de pablum. Just kidding! It's called Someday, as in someday I'll reach puberty.

Canadians should rejoice that a low-life criminal monster, Clifford Olson, is reportedly days away from kicking the bucket with terminal cancer. No compassion for this demented animal.

Should anyone feel sadness over the loss of a costly bottom-feeder serial child killer who should have been executed long ago? NO! This trash person has made a mockery of our Mounties, played the courts for fools and sucked taxpayers for millions during his 30 years of incarceration — a fitting end for this despicable hated human being.

There are many more like Olson in jail, including Paul Bernardo, Robert Pickton and Russell Williams, who need to be turfed as people like these undesirables are taking us to the cleaners with the high costs to keep them alive in jail.

I do not think many would shed a tear for the passing of this slime.

This story is not about insulting good people suffering a malicious disease — cancer. It is about celebrating the end to a horrific human life who deserves no mercy.

WEIRD NEWS

Hey there butterfingers, you've got spam

If you're prone to mistyping email addresses, here's a new thing to worry about: You could be a target for spammers trying to sell you a dream vacation or a diet product by pretending to be one of your friends.

In a clever twist on spam, some websites with names that are confusingly similar to legitimate sites have been set up to reply to any mail sent to them. The responses are framed as out-of-office replies, but sneak in mentions of a new product or service.

Here's a real-life example of how it works: An Associated Press reporter accidentally sent a message to a "verizonwireless.co" address instead of the proper ".com" and got this response, ostensibly from his contact "tom": "I am out of office right now on a my (sic) dream vacation and will get back to you when I return ... You should check this site to see how I scored the best travel deal for my trip." That's followed by a link to a site that advertises luxury resorts.

The sites are registered by "typo-squatters," whose goal is to make money from advertising as people visit the sites after mistyping an address in their browser. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Synopsis

- Pitt plays Billy Beane, the real-life General Manager of the Oakland A's. Faced with piecing together a pro team with a budget a fourth as large as the New York Yankees he breaks with tradition — using scouts, instinct and guts — to find a scientific method to build a team on the cheap. With a Yale trained economist (Jonah Hill) he creates sabermetrics, a combination of facts, figures and computer algorithms to recruit his team.

A different ball game

Moneyball takes a potentially dry topic — baseball stats — and spices it up with Brad Pitt and Jonah Hill ◐ You don't have to be a sports fan to like this film

Richard: Mark, I liked this movie. The synopsis sounds very dry, but so did The Social Network before you actually sat down and watched it. I thought Moneyball took what could be the dry subject of baseball stats and spiced it up with complex, interesting characters, a compelling human story while leaving the usual sport's movie clichés behind. What did you think?

Mark: I liked it, too. It's a sports movie for people who don't care about sports. What really struck me about it was that while most movies have heroes who believe in intuition and passion, the Brad Pitt character sees reason and science as the path to success. It's kind of a Revenge Of The Nerds story, except that Pitt couldn't look nerdy if he tried. Your comparison with The Social Network is apt, Richard, but Billy Beane is played as a much nicer person than Mark Zuckerberg.

RC: Maybe so, and better looking too. The movie moves at about half the speed of The Social Network but that's OK; we're not dealing with the fast moving world of cyber space here but the more relaxed pace of America's favourite pastime. It's a slow build, but the seventh inning stretch is exciting.

MB: Yes, two excellent set pieces towards the end of the movie: the rapid set of phone calls as players are swapped and dropped, and the montage of record breaking wins that come one after the other. But there's an elegiac tone of melancholy that permeates the picture. For a couple of outsiders who turn out to be right, Pitt and his crony, played admirably by Jonah Hill, seem to derive little pleasure from their victories. This is not a sports movie in which guys high five each other constantly. They're all a pretty gloomy bunch.

RC: This isn't a baseball movie and despite the game footage, it's not a sports movie either. Pitt and Hill, in a rare serious role, dominate the movie with their behind-the-scenes stories. Like The Social Network, Moneyball places the onus on the characters and not the technology that drives the story. We've seen baseball movies before, but we've never seen the game from this angle.

MB: And I can't say enough good things about Pitt's effortless acting or Jonah Hill's wonderful supporting work. He no longer needs the Apatow factory to pay his rent!

Faris takes the lead

Takes on her first romantic comedy lead in What's Your Number? Actress known for kooky, exaggerated roles longs to come down to earth

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

Though she's well known for comedy, Anna Faris would argue that What's Your Number? is something of a departure for her.

"I had never really done a romantic comedy before," says the actress, who first rose to fame in the Scary Movie franchise.

"Usually I get offered these roles that are crazy and broad, that don't seem like very real characters. And this seemed like a very grounded character. And it was such a strong script."

The new film also marks the second time (after 2008's the House Bunny) that Faris has served as executive producer on one of her projects — but she doesn't think you should read too much into that.

"I came on as an executive producer, which really doesn't mean much. They pretend to ask your opinion," she says with a laugh.

"Sometimes they listened and sometimes they didn't." One of the areas where they apparently didn't listen to Faris was on her character's look.

"I had a look initially that I wanted to present as Ally. I wanted her to be a little chunky and a brunette and a little just sloppy — like unemployed, tennis shoes. But then there was a lot of disagreement about that element," she says.

"I understand that visually, it's fun to wear nice clothes and nice heels, and I get that she has a rich mom so that's how we justified her Prada shoes, but I don't know. I'm sort of yearning to play the sloppier characters and to play characters that are a little more real."

And it's becoming more likely to see those characters on screen, Faris is happy to say, thanks to the surge of female-fronted comedy led by Bridesmaids, the summer's surprise hit.

"Bridesmaids had women pooping in the streets. The world's our oyster now," she says, laughing proudly.

Movie reviews

Abduction
Genre: Action
Director: John Singleton
Stars: Taylor Lautner, Lily Collins, Alfred Molina

Abduction is supposed to be Twilight third wheel Taylor Lautner's breakout role as not only an actor who can headline a film but also as an action star. Unfortunately, he picked a project that is poorly written and lazily executed. Lautner is a high school student whose work on a class project about missing persons leads him to a website featuring a photo of a familiar face: his own. Soon, a chain of events unfolds that leaves the people he thought were his parents dead and him and the girl next door (Lily Collins) on the run.
In theory, this should be a terse thriller. But instead, Abduction is a teen angst-ridden film. But any concerns about the quality of the movie certainly won't stop his rabid Twilight fans from showing up.

JOEL AMOS

Detective Dee and the Mystery of the Phantom Flame
Genre: Action
Director: Hark Tsui
Stars: Andy Lau, Chao Deng, Carina Lau

Detective Dee is a massive chopsocky epic/whodunit. International action star Andy Lau stars as the titular detective, assigned by a controversial Empress to investigate a series of spontaneous combustions. Exquisitely choreographed fight scenes pile up furiously, with the endless spectacle offering a nice distraction from the convoluted plot. Really this movie is about the action and visuals.

Dolphin Tale
Genre: Drama
Director: Charles Martin Smith
Stars: Harry Connick Jr., Morgan Freeman

A charming story about a young marine animal that was saved with the use of a prosthetic after losing its tail in a tragic accident, Dolphin Tale is as enriching and wholesome as a family movie comes. But even with the weight of stars like Morgan Freeman, director Charles Martin Smith smartly allows the movie's subject and star to upstage the human actors and give the story added heft with her inspirational true story. STEVE GOW

Resurrect the Dead: The Mystery Toynbee Tiles
Genre: Documentary
Director: John Foy
Stars: Justin Duerr, Colin Smith, Steve Weinik

A study in obsessive people obsessed with obsessive people, Jon Foy's Sundance approved doc uses 2001: A Space Odyssey and the necromantic writings of historian Arthur Toynbee as a springboard to decipher the phenomena of enigmatic tiles that have appeared on streets all across the United States. Foy and his team of conspiracy sleuths track these bizarre art installations, trying to figure out what they mean, where they came from etc. but the central problem with the picture is that it's just not that interesting a quest to sustain feature length, despite Foy's own relentless and urgent music score and obvious interest in his subject. CHRIS ALEXANDER

Limelight
Genre: Documentary
Director: Billy Corben
Stars: Moby, Michael Alig, Edward I. Koch

The coke-fuelled antics of New York's after-hours scene is documented in Limelight, which shows how club owner Peter Gatien took on Rudolph Guliani in a pitched culture war. The film is caught between showcasing the appeal of rave culture and techno music and explaining its subject's fall from grace, but there are still some choice bits, including interviews with the likes of Moby. ADAM NAYMAN

Higher Ground
Genre: Drama
Director: Vera Farmiga
Stars: Vera Farmiga, John Hawkes

Vera Farmiga's directorial debut concerns a devout Midwestern housewife in the throes of a spiritual dilemma; taking the lead role for herself, Farmiga the actress does strong work even as she fails to generate much interest on the other side of the camera. ADAM NAYMAN

Killer Elite

Genre: Action
Director: Gary McKendry
Stars: Jason Stathman, Clive Owen, Robert De Niro
🌐🌐

It should be exciting, really, given the source material: British ex-military officer Ranulph Fiennes, supposedly true account of the SAS's dirty dealings in the Middle East in the 1980s. Stay with us now: The film follows a mercenary (Jason Statham) whose mentor (Robert De Niro) gets him tied up with an Omani oil magnate who wants three retired British soldiers killed because their covert meddling caused the deaths of his sons. But wait, there's more. Another retired British soldier (Clive Owen) is tasked by a shadowy secret society to keep the targets alive. It's... yeah. Ultimately, Killer Elite is weighed down by its own moral ambiguity and self-seriousness. NED EHRBAR

Afghan Luke

Genre: Drama
Director: Mike Clattenberg
Stars: Stephen Lobo, Ali Liebert, Anousha Alamian
🌐🌐🌐

Nick Stahl is Luke, a reporter crestfallen when his story about an out-of-control Canadian sniper is suppressed by his newspaper. Determined to bring the story to light, he and sidekick Tom (Nicolas Wright) return to Afghanistan to gather more information and report an unsanitized version of the war. Shot in British Columbia and Nova Scotia Afghan Luke does an admirable job in recreating the unpredictable feel of life in a war zone. RICHARD CROUSE

Starbuck

Genre: Comedy
Director: Ken Scott
Stars: Patrick Huard, Julie LeBreton, Antoine Bertrand
🌐🌐🌐½

Patrick Huard plays David Wozniak, a man-child who learns commitment and responsibility after discovering that his sperm bank donations unwittingly made him the father of 533 children, 142 of whom have filed a class action lawsuit to learn their biological father's real identity. Starbuck is an extremely likeable movie, buoyed by Huard's charm. RICHARD CROUSE

Facing yourself in film

A battle with cancer leads screenwriter to pen film about his experiences starring real-life best friend Seth Rogen in role as... best friend

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN HOLLYWOOD

HANDOUT

▶ As well as starring in 50/50 alongside Joseph Gordon-Levitt, left, Seth Rogen served as one of the film's producers.

Screenwriter Will Reiser looks back on his own battle with a rare form of spinal cancer in 50/50, with Joseph Gordon-Levitt standing in for him as Adam, a young radio producer dealing with a life-changing diagnosis.

But when it came to casting Adam's best friend, the obvious choice was Reiser's real-life best friend, Seth Rogen (who also serves as a producer on the film).

You were in the unique position of writing a character based on your best friend that would be played by that same best friend.

I'm really proud of the performance Seth gave. I think that he did a really great job. And I think a part of that is Joe — not to discredit Seth, but Joe is so real and so grounded that I think that it made it really easy for Seth to play off him. It was just a really relaxed set.

The character's not necessarily Seth, per se. It's sort of an extension of Seth. There are definitely elements of his personality that I incorporated. Like when we were that age, I was a neurotic mess, I worried about everything. I was really uptight, and Seth would just make fun of me. That was our dynamic, and that's very much true to Adam and Kyle.

And you're not a neurotic mess anymore?

I'm a much different person. It sounds cliché to say that, but I think going through that experience, writing about it, I think it brought me out of my shell a little bit. In the movie, with Joe and Seth's characters, it's not like they sit around and talk about their feelings. And that's very much how Seth and I were.

It wasn't like we dealt with it by talking about how we felt. We just made jokes. We just talked about the absurdity of it all. But the actual process of making the movie forced us to talk about those things. Maybe I was this way, maybe I did do certain things.

Maybe I did push my mother away and put pressure on other people when I was sick. It was very helpful just to see myself from a different point of view. It's incredibly therapeutic.

So why the title change from I'm With Cancer?

We tested that along with a bunch of other titles, and we just found that I'm With Cancer just kind of scared audiences away, just the idea of cancer. Which is interesting because our whole marketing campaign is really about being honest about it and not trying to hide.

I liked the idea of cancer being in the title. Because, you know, when I set out to write the movie, I really wanted to challenge the idea of what is acceptable to talk about in film.

Cancer is this kind of taboo subject, and it's almost like the movie can't be about cancer, it's got to be about something else and then cancer is just this plot point in the script. Whereas I really wanted it to be just a meditation on the experience of illness and just go through this journey with this character and really explore what it's all about.

It was hard for a few of us to let go of [I'm With Cancer] because we were all really attached to it, but 50/50 works.

Oh Charlie...

Charlie Sheen says he's changing. "A couple of things I don't do well — marriage and drinking. So I've quit both," he says in an interview with Wendy Williams. "Why would I [marry again]? That's not to say I couldn't have a substantial relationship one day, but to ordain it with a piece of paper just feels like it makes things worse..." METRO

Olivia keeping quiet about her new boyfriend

Actress reveals that she's seeing someone but won't say who
Let the guessing games begin... Could it be Ryan Reynolds?

Olivia Wilde

Olivia Wilde is off the market.

When asked by Britain's OK magazine if she's dating anyone, the actress gives a simple response: "Yeah."

While she's not revealing the identity of her new suitor, she hints that he certainly knows how to impress her.

"I like it if the guy possesses creativity and doesn't take me to a boring restaurant or a boring whatever but comes up with an interesting location. I like to be surprised, for sure," she says.

Coincidentally, Wilde has been spotted spending time with Ryan Reynolds — and the pair looked anything but bored. METRO

Brad Pitt still trying to explain himself

Brad Pitt

At this point, Brad Pitt is probably sorry he opened his mouth at all.

The Moneyball star is still on damage control for comments he made about his marriage to ex-wife Jennifer Aniston.

"I don't know what was pieced together or put together. All I know is that my point was, the best thing I'd done as a father is be sure that my kids have a good mother. That's all I was, or am, trying to say. It has no reference to the past," Pitt says in an interview with Matt Lauer for the Today show, referencing partner Angelina Jolie.

"I think it's a shame that I can't say something nice about Angie without Jen being drug in. You know, she doesn't deserve it." METRO

Jewish eats — Mazel tov!

Rosh Hashanah is around the corner In keeping with tradition, this Honey-Thyme Glazed Chicken with Cider Gravy uses seasonal ingredients

MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This recipe serves 10.

Ingredients:

- 2 whole chickens (each 1.8 to 2.2 kg or 4 to 5 pounds), giblets discarded
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) olive oil
- Kosher salt, to taste
- Black pepper, to taste
- 20 ml (4 tsp) dried thyme
- 1 large yellow onion, quartered
- 180 ml (3/4 cup) dry white wine
- 180 ml (3/4 cup) water
- 60 ml (4 tbsp) butter
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) honey
- 375 ml (1 1/2 cups) apple cider, divided
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) lemon juice
- 500 ml (2 cups) chicken broth
- 45 ml (3 tbsp) flour

Preparation:

1. Heat oven to 220 C (425 F); oven rack should be middle of oven.
2. Pat chickens dry and rub 15 ml (1 tbsp) of oil over each. Sprinkle inside and outside with salt, pepper and 5 ml (1 tsp) each of the thyme. Stuff each with 2 onion quarters. Tuck wings behind back and tie legs together kitchen twine.
3. Arrange chickens, breast side down, on V-rack set inside roasting pan. Roast until golden, about 45 mins. Remove roasting pan from oven and carefully, using paper towels, flip chickens breast side up. Raise oven temp to 230 C (450 F). Pour wine and water into roasting pan. Return pan to oven and roast until thigh meat registers 74 to 77 C (165 to 170 F), about 1 hour. If pan dries out, add more water 125 ml (1/2 cup) at a time.
4. Glaze: In saucepan over medium heat, combine butter and 10 ml (2 tsp) of thyme. Melt butter and cook, stirring, 5 mins. Add honey and 125 ml (1/2 cup) of apple cider, simmer until glaze thickens and reduces, about 10 mins. Stir in 15 ml (1 tbsp) of lemon juice; set aside.
5. Remove roasting pan from oven and brush chickens with thick layer of glaze and continue to roast until glaze is golden brown, about 10 mins. Transfer chickens to cutting board, brush with the remaining glaze and let rest for 15 mins. before cutting.
6. Cider gravy: Whisk 125 ml (1/2 cup) chicken broth, flour in a bowl until smooth. Set aside.
7. Set roasting pan over 2 burners on medium-high heat. Add remaining cider and bring to boil. Cook, scraping up bits from pan, until liquid reduced by about half, about 5 mins. Add remaining 375 ml (1 1/2 cups) broth. Increase heat to high and return to a boil, whisk often. Boil until liquid reduced by about half, 5 mins.
8. Whisk reserved flour-broth mix into pan. Boil, whisking constantly, until gravy thickens, 3 mins. Remove from heat and pour through sieve into large measuring cup. Stir in remaining 15 ml (1 tbsp) lemon juice and season with salt and pepper, to taste. Serve Chicken with cider gravy.

Wine's kosher side

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

With Rosh Hashanah next week, the sales of kosher wines are sure to increase. Kosher wines are made with Sabbath-observant Jews present during all aspects of the wine's creation. To be approved as a kosher wine for consumption during Passover, the same applies but there can't be any dough, bread or grain near the winery.

With these rules, you'd think kosher wines would wind up tasting processed. In the past, many did. Inferior grapes were often used to make wines that were simple, sweet and inevitably more drinkable by a wider audience of orthodox Jews.

Times have changed, with Israel a leader in kosher wine. Israeli wines are rich and textured, with the Yarden 2009 Mount Hermon Red ($16.95 - $22.00) a New World inspired triple-blend that balances its berry burst with a nice undercurrent of ripe tannin.

As good as Israeli wines are, kosher wines are made around the world. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Holiday meaning

The foods of Rosh Hashanah have emblematic value — apples and honey to represent a sweet year to come. They also are intentionally seasonal for the symbolic and practical reasons of wanting to celebrate new beginnings by using what you have on hand in early fall.

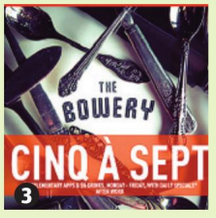
F'Amelia Ristorante
Another Italian restaurant just hit Toronto's scene, and while we may already be over-saturated with purveyors of fine pastas and thin-crust pizzas, F'Amelia Ristorante at 12 Amelia Street promises to serve up the traditional favourites with unique twists and a focus on sustainable ingredients. Plus, the kicker here is the build up of casual, family-style fine dining in Cabbagetown.

Melody Bar at the Gladstone Hotel
The Gladstone Hotel (1214 Queen Street West) was slipping because of its lack of a great lounge/resto and drink spot, but after some much needed and serious renovations, the Melody Bar relaunched this week to patron fanfare. The space has been reinvigorated by local designers and artists, and is on-track to becoming an after-work hotspot for cocktails and bites.



Cinq-a-Sept at The Bowery
The Bowery at 55 Colborne Lane has joined a host of other hot Toronto restaurants and lounges who have adopted the Cinq-a-Sept Montreal moniker, which is basically a double happy hour. $5 drinks will abound, and daily app specials like mussels and frites to poutine and even riblets will be pushed out of the open-concept kitchen.

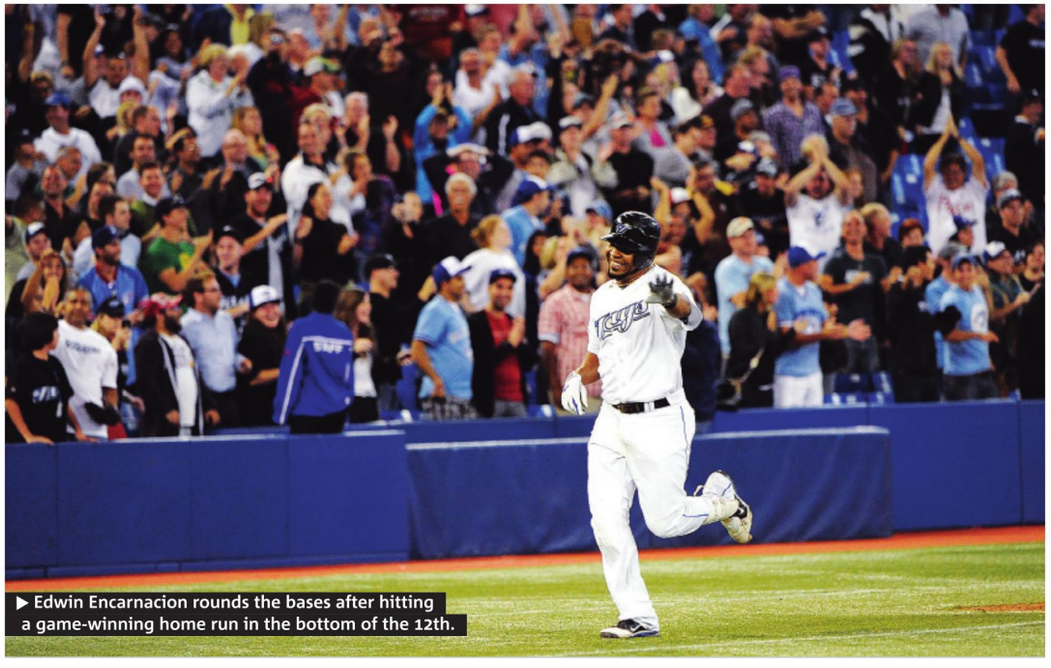
Jays get one for the road

Toronto wins last home game of the year with 12th-inning homer by Encarnacion

BLUE JAYS	ANGELS
4	3

VINCE TALOTTA/TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE



▶ Edwin Encarnacion rounds the bases after hitting a game-winning home run in the bottom of the 12th.

Edwin Encarnacion led off the bottom of the 12th inning with a home run off reliever Garrett Richards as the Toronto Blue Jays ended their home schedule on Thursday with a 4-3 win over the Los Angeles Angels.

Encarnacion's 17th homer of the season came on a 3-2 pitch and sailed over the left-field fence.

The Blue Jays finished 11-0 in extra-inning games played at Rogers Centre and improved their home record to 42-39. They split the four-game series with the Angels, who are still in contention for a playoff berth.

Richards (0-2) took over with one out in the bottom of the 11th. Shawn Camp (5-3) pitched the top of the 12th for the win.

Angels starter Ervin Santana took a 3-1 lead into the seventh but Eric Thames ended his outing by leading off the inning with his 12th homer of the season.

Bobby Cassevah took over and walked Jose Bautista. First baseman Mark Trumbo was charged with an error when he couldn't handle Adam Lind's hard liner.

The ball bounced into centre field and Peter Bourjos threw to second where Lind was called out. Lind and Blue Jays manager John Farrell argued the call.

Bautista moved to third on Lind's liner and scored the tying run on a wild pitch.

Santana allowed six hits, five walks and two runs while striking out five in six innings.

The two runs in the seventh took Blue Jays rookie starter Henderson Alvarez off the hook for the loss. The 21-year-old, who was promoted from double-A New Hampshire in August, continued to impress in his ninth major-league start. He allowed seven hits, no walks and three runs in seven innings.

After the Blue Jays left the bases loaded in the first, the Angels took the lead with one out in the second on the sixth homer of the season for Alberto Callaspo.

Alvarez retired the next five batters before Bobby Abreu led off the fourth with a single.

Santana allowed a leadoff single and two walks in the first, a two-out double to Bautista in the third and a one-out walk in the fourth.

But he could not overcome a two-out double by Thames in the fifth. When Bautista followed with a single, the Jays were even at 1-1. THE CANADIAN PRESS

The race

The Tampa Bay Rays avoided a four-game sweep and pulled within two games on idle Boston in the AL wild-card race.

- Matt Moore struck out 11 in five innings of his first major-league start and the Rays unloaded on the watered-down Yankees for a 15-8 victory Thursday.
- The defeat in Toronto dropped the Angels three games back of Boston.
- Tampa Bay hosts the Jays on Friday, while the Angels play Oakland in Anaheim. Boston starts a three-game series at New York on Friday.

CFL EXTRA POINTS

DAN TOTH
TORONTO@METRONEWS.CA

When does a CFL team NOT want a home playoff game? When that team is the Calgary Stampeders, of course.

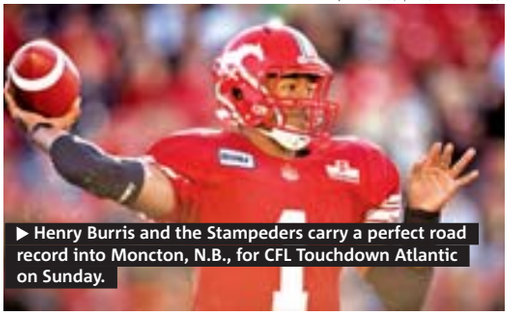
Although the Stampeders have enjoyed a tremendous home record is recent seasons and despite being tied for first in the West this year, Calgary has been awful on home turf. Through some unexplained quirk, Calgary has a 2-4 record at McMahon Stadium but is undefeated on the road (5-0). Keep playing that well out of a suitcase and the Stampeders could end up getting what they apparently don't want — a home playoff game.

The phenomenon seems to have permeated the entire league this season, with road teams winning as often as home sides through Week 12.

Enthusiasm on the ebb in Year 2 of Maritime experiment:

Touchdown Atlantic could run aground if ticket sales are any indication.

JEFF MCINTOSH/THE CANADIAN PRESS



▶ Henry Burris and the Stampeders carry a perfect road record into Moncton, N.B., for CFL Touchdown Atlantic on Sunday.

While last year's Touchdown Atlantic sold out in a day, this weekend's game between Calgary and Hamilton at Moncton Stadium still has good seats remaining in the facility that has been expanded to 20,000 seats.

Could it be the novelty of CFL football has already worn thin on Maritimers who have been asked to shell out good money to sit on wonky temporary bleachers and watch two teams with no connection to their home turf?

That has to be a factor, but if Atlantic Canada wants to be considered for a CFL franchise, the fans will have to buck up, even if the situation is less than ideal.

In reality, someone with deep pockets will have to partner with local government to build a real pro football stadium before they'll be taken seriously. Problem is, how can anyone invest in building a full-fledged CFL stadium and court an expansion franchise if fans won't open their wallets once a season?

Riders and Lions roar to life:

It's fun to speculate about possible crossover playoff berths, and early on this season we were doing plenty hypothesizing about an Eastern team finally stealing a West team's spot come November.

Well, not so fast.

With both the B.C. Lions (5-6) and Saskatchewan Roughriders (4-7) sparking back to life in recent weeks, the fourth-place West team could again slip into the No. 3 spot in the East.

At 5-6, Hamilton is the potential victim, although plenty of games remain to climb out of that hole.

Blast from the past for Jays?

The Toronto Blues Jays are apparently going retro.

Internet sites have leaked what they claim to be the new Blue Jays' logo, a sleeker version of the bird the team sported in its early years.

The Blue Jays' logo leak comes less than a week after the new third jerseys for the Toronto Maple Leafs and Ottawa Senators were revealed prematurely.

Team spokesman Jay Stenhouse declined to comment on the story when reached by The Canadian Press.

REAL TESTIMONIALS

We always had fun and trusted each other since childhood but one day I saw them very strange and distant from me. I called the shaman and mentioned my problem; over the phone he offered me the solution. When I went to see him in person, he showed the face of the person who was very envious of our friendship and was separating us through evil influence.

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 Almost everyone you deal with today will be more demanding.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 You have been pushing yourself hard. The next few days are important for your health and wellbeing.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 One of the best times of the year begins today as the Sun moves into your fellow Air sign of Libra.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 You need to go a bit easier on yourself than you have done recently. You need a period of rest and recovery.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 The cosmic climate is beginning to change and life in general will be fun again. Start making travel plans.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 What you have accomplished recently is just the beginning. Now, you must set your sights even higher.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 The plans you make now will transform your life in so many ways.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Your time would be better spent thinking than doing today. Give more thought to where you want to go.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Give yourself permission to dream and don't be surprised when those dreams come true.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 As a Capricorn, you were born to reach the top of your chosen profession. So start climbing.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 It's one of the best times of the year to explore new avenues of creativity.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. With the Sun moving into your chart's wealth area, you'll think of your income. SALLY BROMPTON
